DOCUMENT RESUME

ED 461 358 IR 018 597

| | |
|---|---|
| TITLE | Internet for Educators[TM]: A Step-by-Step Guide To Help Educators Understand and Use the Internet. [Videotape]. |
| ISBN | ISBN-0-9648717-1-8 |
| PUB DATE | 1996-00-00 |
| NOTE | 0p.; Produced by White Rain Films, Ltd. |
| AVAILABLE FROM | White Rain Films, 2009 Dexter Ave., North-Seattle, WA 98109 (running time: 66 minutes, $19.95). Tel: 800-816-5244 (Toll Free); Tel: 206-682-5417; Fax: 206-682-3038. |
| PUB TYPE | Guides - Non-Classroom (055) -- Non-Print Media (100) |
| EDRS PRICE | Document Not Available from EDRS. |
| DESCRIPTORS | Administrators; *Computer Assisted Instruction; *Computer Uses in Education; Educational Technology; Electronic Mail; File Transfer Protocol; Guidelines; Information Technology; *Internet; Parents; Teachers; *Teaching Methods; *Videotape Recordings; World Wide Web |
| IDENTIFIERS | Connectivity; Educators |

ABSTRACT

This 66-minute videotape is part of an ongoing Internet education series, exploring the fascinating resources of the Internet. It is a step-by-step guide demonstrating effective techniques for using the World Wide Web, e-mail, file transfer protocol and other technologies. The program examines the Internet phenomenon from the educator's point of view. Included are interviews with working educators, as well as administrators, parents, and professionals, plus examples of how to put the Internet to work in the classroom or to interact with fellow educators across the country and around the world. The program also includes a comprehensive book, "Speakeasy Cafe," with detailed information to get educators connected and navigating the Internet. (AEF)

Reproductions supplied by EDRS are the best that can be made from the original document.